ISLA CACAO

FOR US CRAFT CHOCOLATE MAKERS · BEAN SOURCING

Venezuelan fine-flavor cacao, from the island to your bar.

A family venture between Margarita Island, Venezuela and Gainesville, Florida, building a small, careful supply of traceable Venezuelan beans for bean-to-bar makers.

Who we are

Isla Cacao is a father-and-son business. The name is a nod to Margarita, the island just off Venezuela's Paria cacao coast.

MARGARITA ISLAND

Auditor on the ground

A retired accountant and former audit partner who leads supplier vetting, cut tests and document checks in Venezuela.

GAINESVILLE, FLORIDA

The US side

Importing, compliance, logistics and relationships with chocolate makers.

What we offer

- Evaluation samples by origin, so you can roast and test before you commit.
- Small, traceable lots sized for craft makers, not commodity buyers. We name an origin only when the lot's paper trail supports it.
- On-site quality checks: cut tests, moisture readings and photo records in Venezuela before anything ships.
- Compliance-first import: sanctions screening of every counterparty and US import requirements (FDA prior notice, FSVP) handled before a lot moves.

Concept render

Origins we're sourcing from

SUCRE

Paria & Río Caribe

The cacao coast closest to Margarita, and our starting point. Home of the Río Caribe trade grades.

MIRANDA

Barlovento

The region behind Carenero Superior, one of Venezuela's named fine-flavor origins.

ZULIA

Sur del Lago

The lowlands south of Lake Maracaibo, known for Criollo-type cacao such as Porcelana.

Venezuela is on the ICCO's list of fine-or-flavour cocoa exporting countries (Annex C, ICA 2010, revised Apr 2024). Availability by origin depends on harvest and supplier; we'll confirm per lot.

How to start

1. Request samples. Tell us the origins, volumes, timing and specs you're after.
2. Evaluate. Samples come with the lot's origin details and our cut-test notes.
3. Reserve a share of a lot. Lots move only after your sign-off and our compliance checks.

Tell us your specs

Useful to know up front: annual volume, preferred origins, fermentation and moisture targets, heavy-metal (cadmium/lead) limits, and whether you need organic paperwork.

We don't publish prices or claim certifications. Terms are quoted per lot.
